We place before our readers to-day the spring ad of Meisel Bros., Port Huron, the widely known merchants, whose assortment of goods, low prices, and courtesy to customers have gained for them the reputation of being the leading merchants in Eastern Michigan. Their large store is now bright and fresh with new goods and the ladies may spend some pleasant and profitable hours with them when in Port Huron.

Henry H. Holden will move with his family to North Branch next Monday where they will again take up their residence. Harry moved here from North Branch with his family a few years ago, after he took the contract for the wood work on the Holden block, but not having enough work here and being an active, thorough and pushing carpenter and builder he is compelled to make the shift as above stated. Both Mr and Mrs. Holden have made hosts of friends since their sojourn here, all of whom will regret to learn of their departure.

Francis Sweeney, who died at St. Mary's hospital, Saginaw, was an old resident of Brockway town, having lived here for over ten years. He had been troubled with gangrene for about a year, and eight days before his death he had the left leg amputated but the operation did not save his life, the disease having had too firm a hold on his system. His wife and three grown up sons survive him. The funeral took place at Mt. Pleasant where the family burying ground is located, Rev. Father Crowley preaching the funeral sermon. Deceased was 66 years, 11 months and 9 days of age and was held in high estimation by all who knew him.

Monday evening before ten o'clock a sneak thief broke out a pane of glass in one of the rear windows of W. H. Rollins' meat market, and getting inside pryed the money till off the counter taking it out doors and made away with the contents. Orville Snider and Willie White found the till where it was left about ten o'clock and immediately informed Mr. Rollins. Only between three and five dollars in small change was taken. The work is supposed to have been done by some of the small boys of the village. We believe that the action taken by the council sometime ago, in instructing a proper officer to see that these young rascals are kept off the streets after nine o'clock be more strictly enforced. Parents see that your boys are at home before nine o'clock.

About four hundred people attended the entertainment given by the Yale Comedy Co. in Central hall last Thursday evening. The programme was well rendered, the boys acquitting themselves most creditably. The "end men" were J. Bert Jardine and Lew McDonald, while E. H. Drake acted as "middle man," and they kept the audience in roars of laughter for three-quarters of an hour. The hits of the evening were the songs and dances of Mr. Jardine, he being encored several times, and it was the opinion of all present that the stage is the proper place for Bert, he being a talented comedian. Little Ina Palmer, was loudly applauded on delivering her recitation. The music by the orchestra under the direction of Prof. J. O. Grinnell was much appreciated. The company will show in Brown City next Tuesday evening.
